

374

375

376

- 374 VOLGA-BULGARS. Anonymous, ca. AH 301-310/914-922. Dirham. Uniface. Imitating a Samanid dirham of Nasr II b. Ahmad. Cf.A-Q1481. This is not a brockage, but rather a deliberately struck piece, thin and uniface with retrograde obverse mirror-image. Broad flan. An interesting coin. VERY RARE. Toned EF 250.
- 375 Anonymous, ca. AH 301-310/914-922. Dirham. Imitating a Samanid Dirham of Ahmad b. Isma`il, al-Shash AH 300. The engraver has done a good job of aping the original in a neat, crisp style. Minor errors and irregular calligraphic formation, however, show that it is a Volga-Bulgarian imitation. Cf.A-Q1481. Lightly toned EF 200.
- 376 Anonymous, ca. AH 301-310/914-922. Dirham. Imitating a Samanid Dirham of Nasr II b. Ahmad, Nishapur AH 300. At first glance, the coin appears to be a regular Samanid issue. But the date is fictional as Nasr II assumed power in AH 301. The engraver has done a fairly good job of mimicking the Samanid legends by sight, but not by comprehension. Letters are routinely omitted, while some word formations are irregular. Cf.A-Q1481. Minor flatness in margins. Sharp centers EF 200.

377

378

379

380

381

- 377 QARAKHANIDS. Ahmad b. `Ali, ca. AH 384-407/994-1016. Dirham, Quz Urdu, AH 400. Ruler named as Nasr al-Millah Ahmad bin `Ali Qara-khagan, Mongol word at end. Kochnev 237. Scarce. Irregular edge with minor chipping EF 125.
- 378 Dirham, Quz Urdu AH 402. Squared mint and date formula. Tiny mim middle first line obverse central legend. Ruler named as Nasr al-Millah Ahmad bin `Ali Qara-khagan. Kochnev 290. Surface veining Good VF 100.
- 379 Dirham, Balasagun AH 404. Ruler named as Qutb al-Dawla khaqan Ahmad bin `Ali. Kochnev 332. RARE. Trivial edge chipping EF 150.
- 380 Dirham, Quz Ordu AH 405. Double obverse margin legend, circular. Ruler cited as Nasr al-Millah Ahmad bin `Ali Qara-khagan. Above: a star of six diagonal non-linked lines, annulet at center, within arabesque of six arcs. Three annulets between lines of the double inner circle. Kochnev 290. Typical surface veining. Attractive style. Good lustre Choice EF 225.
- 381 Muhammad b. `Ali, ca. AH 393-415/1003-1024. Dirham, Kesh AH 401. Citing his brother and overlord Ahmad b. `Ali as Nasir al-Haqq Khan, and his brother and Ilak Nasr b. `Ali as al-Mu`ayyad al-`Adl Ilak (Nasr). Muhammad is named in the margin legend as: al-Amir al-Jalil Sahib al-Dawla Sinan al-Jish Abu al-Fawaris Bekatuzin. (The engraver has mistakenly transposed Sahib and Sinan). Cf.Kochnev 234. VERY RARE. Grainy VF 200.
Kesh, the modern Shahr-i Sebz (the Green City), lies south of Samarqand. Some 226 years after this coin was struck, it would be the birthplace of Timur, known as Timur lenk (or Tamerlane as the West would know him), one of history's cruelest conquerors.